

As a source for telemarketers, my firm is required to have all up-to-date state "do not call" lists. To obtain these lists from the individual states, is an extremely costly and time consuming endeavor. If there was one consolidated nation wide list, this would make the task of staying in compliance with all telemarketing laws much easier and more efficient. If the "do not call" list were available in a "one-stop shopping" format nationwide, I feel that many more telemarketing companies would use the list. Thus reducing the amount of unwanted telephone soliciations received by individuals. My firm is currently spending close to $5,000 annually to obtain all participating state lists! Not to mention the man hours to load all these files keep the subscriptions up-to-date. It is time for one national list!!!!
